'HERONRIB' PVC Duckboard Matting

CLEANING & CARE

Hand Cleaning

The cleaning fluid should be sprayed onto the matting with a trigger spray and allowed to penetrate the grease or dirt before hosing down with clean water. A stiff brush may be used to work the cleaning fluid into the surface dirt, bearing in mind that sufficient time should be allowed for the cleaning fluid to penetrate.

Steam Cleaning

Any type of steam cleaner may be used. Good results have been obtained with nozzle pressure of approximately 100°C. The cleaning fluid should be diluted according the steam cleaning machine manufacturers recommendations. Experience has shown that it is preferable to spray on a hot cleaning fluid/water solution, allowing it to soak for a few minutes before steaming off.

Degreasing

Some users in the food industry have found that the method for general cleaning purposes in, say, meat preparation areas, can be equally satisfactory for matting. For example, if the matting becomes heavily coated with grease, it may be completely immersed in a solution of warm water and a suitable cleaning fluid. Use the manufacturers' recommended mix in any suitable tank. Once it has been allowed to soak until the grease is lifting off the surface, it can be removed from the tank and lightly brushed over with a stiff bristle brush before hosing down with clean water.
